
The four questions

i. How accurate are the models, and how close to the heritability ceiling?

ii. Are the uncertainty statements they produce natively calibrated?

iii. Does conformal calibration repair them, and at what cost in interval width?

iv. Does acting on calibrated uncertainty change the selection decision?